Disturbing the Peace is a novel by American writer Richard Yates. First published in 1975, Yates's fourth book concerns the psychological breakdown and subsequent institutionalization of an alcoholic salesman. Semi-autobiographical, the novel was dismissed by critics as his weakest book.

Disturbing the Peace (novel) - Wikipedia

As a rule, central characters in Yates's novels self-destruct little-by-little. There's usually all sorts of strenuous efforts to keep up appearances. Not so in Disturbing the Peace – Wilder's self-destruction is swift and thorough, and the story focuses on his weak and deluded attempts to rebuild his life.
